SIMPLIFICATION OF THE LANDSCAPE

Tutor: Penelope Gilbert Ng

Materials list

- Name tag
- Coffee mug
- Plastic to cover your work table

Paper: Colourfix

- Two sheets of original White COLOURFIX Art Spectrum paper or White TEX Canson paper.
- Watercolour paints: you will underpainting in watercolour as this approach is just another method to pastel. You will need a selection of primary colour watercolours. I use tube watercolours, Magenta for red, Cadmium Red, Aureolin yellow or lemon yellow Quinacridone gold and cobalt blue sometimes turquoise blue. Artist quality paints have more intense pigment and won't fade if some is allowed to show through pastel.

Brushes

- a medium to large size synthetic watercolour painting brush for application (use and old brush as paper chews up bristles quickly as is abrasive). If you have pan watercolours that is ok just a bit harder to dissolve to get strong pigment.
- Watercolour palette.
- Board: You will be working on half sheet paper having a board big enough to accommodate the paper size with some space around the paper.
- Bulldog Clips
- masking tape (cream not coloured) I use the masking tape all around the paper which gives a white border after completion
- Easel.... Free standing or table easel
- Faber Castell Kneadable eraser, also plastic eraser
- Fine mist water sprayer
- Torchon / I use a colour shaper grey rubber tip.
- old watercolour brush synthetic hair/ water container
- 2B pencil

- Mask if you use one optional.
- Apron,

- Photo references of landscapes of your choice taken early morning or late afternoon. Looking for long shadows. If you have an iPad or tablet images appear clearer to work from
- Hat and UV protection skin cream protection, insect repellent, warm cloths if we do plein air.

Pastels:

The pastels you have already Hard and Soft. Make sure you have a variation in tones of your colours such as dark medium and light. Suggested colours Schmincke Quinacridone violet 048B, Schmincke perm orange 005 O (lightest one), mauve greys, ochres, umbers, Bring pastel pencils if you have them. Turquoise blues in various values.

For those starting in pastel Faber Castell have boxes of half sticks which are a good base of colours to start from and gradually add colours to your collection as you need them. Rembrandt also have excellent sets in different quantities to start with landscape, portrait or mixed colours. Schmincke are difficult to buy so Unison have good colours and Art Spectrum have a good dark purple Flinders Blue Violet D520 that can substitute the Schmincke 048B and a new light colour set. Art Spectrum now have lovely square shaped pastels in sets which are great to use.

Lots of enthusiasm essential!!!
