CREATIVE RESEARCH MASTERCLASS: STRATEGIES FOR CREATIVE PRACTICE

This master class presents an in-depth program supporting artists to develop new strategies for their creative practice. Artists are invited to step outside their comfort zone to engage in open-ended, intuitive and experimental, process-based research, in a supportive and safe setting. The 6-day program will include diverse approaches to art practice encouraging play and risk-taking with materials and techniques, writing and discussions as well as self-evaluation and critical reflection. Participants will be offered a collection of strategies for starting new projects, generating ideas and working through creative blocks; as well as gaining insight into their own unique approach to art making.
